

RULES

Rules for Using Linguistic Elements of Speech

A Resource and Interactive Workbook

Student Workbook

Marjorie Feinstein-Whittaker, M.S.
Lynda Katz Wilner, M.S.

COVER DESIGN: Sarah Bishins

RULES
Rules for Using Linguistic Elements of Speech
A Resource and Interactive Workbook

ISBN 0-9717038-2-5

© 2006, 2007, 2nd Edition,
by Marjorie Feinstein-Whittaker and Lynda Katz Wilner
ESL RULES, LLC

All rights reserved. No part of this publication may be reproduced, stored in a retrieval system, or transmitted, in any form or by any means, electronic, mechanical, photocopying, recording or otherwise, without prior written permission of the author.

Published by Successfully Speaking
Owings Mills, MD 21117
410-356-5666 FAX 410-356-5666

Suggestions on How to Use the Audio CDs

There is an add-on option for five audio CDs corresponding to the 23 RULES described in this workbook.

As you look in each chapter, you will see a headphone icon to the left of the recorded information. The CD number and track will also be indicated.

The target words and sentences that appear on the CD are indicated by italics in your workbook.

The overview of the RULE is a listen only activity. Following a summary explanation, you will hear a series of stimulus words and sentences. You will hear one item at a time, followed by a brief pause. Repeat the word or sentence as clearly as you can during these pauses. For the sentences, it is recommended that you follow along with your workbook.

Try to match the trainer's production as closely as you can. Say the key word or sentence using the same clear, slow speech emphasizing the pronunciation and/or intonation rule.

Consistent, daily practice using the audio CDs and your workbook exercises will facilitate your transition to a more natural sounding, North American English style of speech.

Work hard and have fun!

CD #1 pages 3-45

CD #2 pages 47-88

CD #3 pages 89-126

CD#4 pages 127-161

CD#5 pages 161-200

RULES

Rules for Using Linguistic Elements of Speech

A Resource and Interactive Workbook

Student Workbook

Table of Contents

Red font indicates sample units

Introducing Yourself (Pre- and Post-Speech Samples).....	1
The American Sound System.....	3
Stress and Intonation Rules.....	5
1. Compound Noun Stress Patterns.....	7
2. Compound Nouns vs. Phrasal Verbs.....	17
3. Adjective + Noun Stress Patterns.....	21
4. Proper Nouns.....	27
5. Heteronym Pairs.....	33
6. Acronyms and Initializations.....	35
• The United States of America.....	45
7. Syllable Stress Patterns.....	49
8. Sentence Level Stress Patterns.....	57
9. Numbers.....	63
10. Reflexive Pronouns.....	67
11. Tips for Telephone Communication.....	69
Pronunciation Rules.....	71
12. Voicing and Syllable Length.....	73
13. Linking Words Together.....	75
14. /t/ Variations.....	91
15. Other /t/ Pronunciations.....	101
16. Y-Insertion.....	105
17. -Y Endings Pronounced as /i/ “ee”.....	109
18. Syllable Reductions.....	115
19. Past Tense Endings.....	119

20. -S Endings	123
21. Consonant Blends and Clusters	127
• A. Initial “R” Blends.....	127
• B. Initial “L” Blends.....	143
• C. Initial “S” Blends.....	148
• D. Other Initial Blends.....	160
• E. Final Consonant Clusters.....	161
• F. Middle Consonant Clusters.....	186
Grammar Rules	187
22. Articles and Demonstrative Pronouns	189
• Pronunciation Rules	195
23. Prepositions.....	199
Putting It All Together	201
• Rules Summary Sheet.....	203

Sample Copy

Compound Noun Stress Patterns

1. Compound Noun Stress Patterns

CD
1:3

A compound noun is comprised of two distinct words that are joined together to create a word with a new meaning. They can be written as one new word, e.g., checkbook, airport; they may be two separate words, e.g., bank account, parking lot; or they may be hyphenated, e.g., drive-thru, take-out. To determine which form is accurate, consult a dictionary. The list of compound words is exhaustive and new words arise as our technology changes.

The first word of a compound noun should be stressed with a higher pitch, louder volume and longer vowel. If the first word has two or more syllables, remember to maintain the correct syllable stress for that word, e.g., Emergency Room, Insurance card. There may be regional differences for stressed syllables.

Exercise 1: Read the following compound words aloud. Be sure to stress the first word in the pair, saying it with higher pitch, louder volume and a longer vowel. Then, try to make up your own sentences using the compound words that you usually use. Add some of your own terms to the lists under Personal Words.

CD
1:4

Computer-related terms

download	upgrade	shortcut
screensaver	password	username
logout	backspace	e-mail
hardware	desktop	laptop
Microsoft®	QuickBooks®	Spyware®

Personal Words

These are partial lists of some of the categories for compound nouns. The Teacher's Edition includes activities, such as shopping lists and floor plans with questions for paired activities to reinforce the correct stress patterns.

Travel and Transportation Terms

CD
1:4

travel agent	airline	airplane	sightseeing
train station	suitcase	airport	tourist trap
check-in	boarding pass	layover	non-stop
heliport	car keys	tollbooth	toll collector

Personal Words

Work-related Terms

CD
1:4

conference room	training room	parking lot	discussion group
press conference	overtime	full-time	part-time
teamwork	team leader	workday	workload
workplace	outcome	dinner meeting	lunchtime

Personal Words

Home-related Terms

real estate	property tax	homeowner's	title search
bedroom	family room	screen door	living room
bathroom	sitting room	dressing room	fireplace
penthouse	housekeeper	grounds keeper	landscaper

Personal words

Communication Terms

newspaper	newscast	voiceover	web cast
anchorman	weatherman	cell phone	answering machine

CD
1:5

Exercise 2: Practice reading the following sentences and focus on the stress pattern for the compound words. First, underline the compound words in each sentence. Then, read them aloud using correct compound noun stress patterns. NOTE: Phrasal verbs are noted with an asterisk *. Remember to use the correct stress pattern (stress the second word). Please see Unit 2 (Compound Nouns vs. Phrasal Verbs) for more information.

1. Go to the website and enter your user id and password.
2. Hand the bank teller your deposit slip and paycheck.
3. Do you have a desktop or a laptop in your office?
4. I'll use my gift certificate for the early bird special at the restaurant.
5. Should we eat in the boardroom or the conference room?

Partial List

Sample Copy

4. A. estimate B. estimate (primary and secondary stress)

We received a reasonable _____ for the car repair.

How long do you _____ it will take to complete?

5. A. graduate B. graduate (primary and secondary stress)

When will you _____ from the University?

Where are you going for _____ school?

6. A. affect B. affect

After a head injury or a stroke, a person's _____ can change.

How do you think the layoffs will _____ employee morale?

7. A. project B. project

I hope to finish my _____ before the deadline.

It is so hard to _____ our anticipated sales figures.

8. A. subject B. subject

Don't _____ him to so much pressure.

He was a _____ in the experiment.

Linking Words Together

Italicized
text is on the audio
CD.

CD
2:14

The endings of words are important in American English and they carry more grammatical information than the beginning of the word. However, if we exaggerate the pronunciation, the flow of speech may become disrupted. When words are linked together, the message flows smoothly and sounds more natural.

Linking doesn't occur at the ends of thought groups, punctuation, or sentences.

The /d/ sound is a particularly difficult sound to link. When a word ends in a /d/ sound, make sure to link the /d/ with the beginning of the next word, whether it is a consonant or vowel. Bring your tongue behind your upper teeth as if you are ready to make a /d/ sound, but do not release the /d/. Place your tongue in the correct position for the sound of the second word to make a smooth transition and avoid the extra syllable "duh" or [də].

Exercise 1: Practice saying the following words and sentences and concentrate on linking the words so you cannot hear an extra syllable "uh" or [ə] between the two words, e.g. Red_Sox vs. Red-ə-Sox.

Pay attention to the linking notation (_) between final /d/ sounds and the initial sound of the following word. Read the sentences aloud and focus on linking the words together. Then try to read the sentences that follow without any linking notation.

NOTE: A final "e" is silent in the words identified with an asterisk*.

1. Final /d/ + Consonant

Partial list of words and sentences

Link the words together and don't release the final /d/.

Red_Sox	bad_news	mud_room	bed_room
feed_me	food_bank	guide*_book	good_night
lead_time	paid_leave	paid_vacation	road_block
rude*_remarks	wide*_lanes	wood_pile	board_room

NOTE: A final "e" is silent in the words identified with an asterisk*.

CD
2:15

Sentences

1. Ted_received_two tickets for exceeding the speed_limit and_not wearing a seat belt.
2. The children raised_money by setting up a lemonade_stand.
3. Proceed_slowly as you drive through the construction area.
4. It was difficult to persuade_them to remain for the entire lecture.
5. The gardener sprayed_the insecticide, trimmed_the shrubs, and spread_mulch in the beds.

4. Final /t/ + Vowel

Link the final /t/ to the vowel and be careful not to release the /t/. The /t/ will become a flap /t/. It is said more quickly, less precisely, and with some voicing; for example, "a lot_of."

sit_up	start_up	what_about	wait_up
eat_out	not_again	admit_it	heat_up seat_available	fit_in	scoot_over	illustrate*_it
let_it (go)	caught_on	get_up	shut_off

NOTE: A final "e" is silent in the words identified with an asterisk*.

CD
2:18

Sentences

1. The nurse said, "Please sit_up and have something to drink."
2. I can heat_up leftovers or we could eat_out tonight.
3. Can you scoot_over and make some room for me at the table?
4. She wrote_a book and I am going to illustrate_it.
5. Admit_it; you like the paint color, right?

7. Vowel-to-Vowel Linking

CD
2:21

As you link these two vowels together, insert a “w” sound for the rounded vowels, e.g., [o], [u].

go_in	go_on	hello_everyone	go_ahead
no_exit	show_us	you_are	how_is

As you link these two vowels together, insert a “y” sound for the unrounded vowels, e.g., [i], [e].

she_allowed	be_inclined	he_offered	may_I
see_everything	be_aware	we_are	tee_off

Sentences

1. Go_ahead and show_us the room for the reception.
2. He_offered his bedroom to the house guests.
3. She_allowed the children to go_on the field trip.
4. Nikki can see_everything from the top of the mountain.
5. We_are going to tee_off at 7:30.

21. Consonant Blends and Clusters

Consonant blends and clusters occur at the beginning, middle, and end of words. It is important to pronounce all of the sounds, but you do NOT insert a break between the sounds. For example, say “please,” not “puh-lease.”

CD
4:1

When you pronounce consonant blends, the letters are influenced by the adjacent sounds, so that you say it with stronger or weaker voicing than if you pronounce it alone. For example, “correct_i” vs. “ne_i,” “sp_ort,” vs. “p_ort,” “se_nt” vs. “se_i.”

Sometimes, some of the final clusters may become reduced in conversation to allow the sentence to flow smoothly.

*He was the first one.
Please pass the cream and sugar.*

Exercise 1: Say the followings words and remember to pronounce the blend or consonant cluster correctly. Look up the meanings of the unfamiliar words to increase your vocabulary. Words with multiple meanings and/or multiple parts of speech are shown with a star (★). Then, make up a sentence or write a definition for the words you don’t know. Finally, practice saying the sentences aloud and focus on the consonant blends or clusters. Add your own personal vocabulary words to each section.

Individual lists for each of the "R Blends," "L Blends," "S Blends," "Other Blends," and "Final Consonant Clusters."

Initial /pr/ blends

CD
4:3

print★	proud★	prize★
prove	proof★	prestige
predominant	preview★	president
privacy	promise★	profit★
promotion	pressure★	primary★
privilege★	product	pronounce

The asterisked items have multiple meanings and are used in sentences to practice the pronunciation and teach multiple meanings.

Sentences and/or definitions:

1. _____
2. _____

Personal words:

Print

1. The artist signed this limited-edition print.
2. Do you like the print on this scarf?
3. Please print your name neatly on the line.
4. We can make a print from this old negative.

Privilege

1. Chase lost a privilege when he didn't come in the house when his mother called him.
2. Meyer thought it was an honor and a privilege to serve in the Navy.
3. Children of privilege attended the posh boarding school.

Initial /pl/ blends

please★

plight

plastic

pliers

platform★

plow

pleated

plural

pleasing

platter

place★

placement

plunged plus★

plunger

Sentences and/or definitions:

1. _____
2. _____

Personal Words:

Please

1. Saying please and thank-you is a sign of good manners.
2. The hostess wanted to please her guests.

CD
4:15

Platform

1. The Democrats and Republicans announced their platform at the convention.
2. The students approached the platform to receive their diplomas.
3. She wore platform shoes to make herself look taller.

E. FINAL CONSONANT CLUSTERS

25 different lists of final consonant clusters

Final /ld/ clusters

cold ★	held	told
yield ★	failed★	cancelled
weld ★	field★	sold
mild ★	filled★	mailed
hold ★	bold	gold★
installed	old	polled
could 	would	should

 "l" is silent in these words.

Sentences and/or definitions:

1. _____
2. _____

Personal Words:

Cold

1. It's unusually cold for the month of June.
2. Why did Lorraine give you a cold stare when you walked into the room?
3. One of my roommates is cold and aloof.
4. Don't sit next to me because I woke up with a terrible cold.
5. Martin knew the rules and regulations cold.

Yield

1. Our garden had a low yield of tomatoes this summer.
2. Didn't you see the yield sign?
3. I will not yield to unreasonable demands.

CD
5:1

14. /t/ Variations

CD
3:3

You can pronounce the /t/ sound different ways depending on its position in the word or the sentence. The following rules identify different /t/ variations:

P - It is said "crispily" or "precisely," if it is in the beginning of a word or in the stressed syllable of a word; for example, "Tom," "atomic," "attack."

F - Before an unstressed syllable, it is said more quickly, less precisely, and with some voicing as a flap /t/; for example, "attic," "city."

U - At the end of a word, it is unreleased and hardly heard; for example, "at."

G - /t/ in the middle of a word that ends with an /n/ is sometimes said towards the back of the throat or as a glottal /t/; for example, "satin" ("sah- in").

C - When combined with other consonants in a cluster, the /t/ assumes the characteristics of the sounds in that blend; for example, "correct," "accept," "first," "left," "rent," "part," "belt."

NOTE: When you link a word that has an unreleased /t/ ("put") with a word beginning with a vowel ("it"), the unreleased /t/ becomes a flap /t/; for example, "put_it_in," "a lot_of," "meet_us later." Linking is identified by " _ ". For additional information see Unit 13 - Linking Words Together.

This unit includes lists of words and sentences for each of the above patterns. The Teacher's Edition includes quizzes and activities for "T Variations."

16. Y- Insertion

Partial Unit

1. When the vowel sound /u/ is spelled with the letter “u” or the letters “ew,” a “Y” or /j/ sound is often heard in the pronunciation. Of course, there are many exceptions to this rule, which can be confusing to nonnative speakers of English.

configuration

manufacture

manual

simulation

executive

computer

Remember that the vowel sound /u/ may be spelled as “ue” (blue), “u” (rule), “o” (movie), “oo” (soon), “ui” (fruit), “ou” (through), “ew” (few), “oe” (shoe), “eau” (beautiful), and “u + consonant + e” (tune).

CD
3:12

Pronunciation With and Without Y-Insertions

Pronounce these words with a Y-insertion:

molecule

meticulous mutation

miraculous communist university

futile peculiar unity

reputation

unanimous

fuel

CD
3:12

Pronounce these words without a Y-insertion:

conclude

solution

rumor nuclear rudimentary

convoluted

resolution

lunatic

Exercise 2: Indicate whether the underlined words should be pronounced as /u/ (OO) or /ju/ (Y) by writing the notation above the words. Write either “OO” for /u/ or “Y” for /ju/. Read the sentences aloud using the proper pronunciation for /u/.

1. Stu's beautiful fiancée concluded that she wanted to be married in June under a full moon.
2. Rodeo Drive is an exclusive shopping area in Los Angeles where you can find unique shoes, clothing and jewels.

3. My new computer got good reviews in the consumer magazine.
4. The executive chef created a new spring menu using fresh local produce.
5. Susan thought that her math tutor was useless so she terminated her.

Sample Copy